CRIPPLES OF THE WAR.

A bill is pending in the Senate, and which has been favorably reported by the Committee on Pensions, allowing an increase of pension from $25 to $37 per month to soldiers who had lost both an arm and a leg in the service. This is not only a generous but a humane movement and is intended for a class that is quite small, yet almost helpless. We never see one of these poor fellows grinding on a hand organ, cap in hand, and face joyous with smiles, but we think of a brave, proud life made almost useless by the havoc of a fratricidal war; and also reflect on the ingratitude of a nation that pensions its heroes so grudgingly that they are compelled to purchase a hand organ, sit or stand on a street corner, and there recall

"The brazen tramp, the soul-stirring drum, That made the foe defence are they come."

If Congress expended ten times as much as it ever has done to alleviate the poverty and sorrows of our "brave boys in blue," no loyal citizen of the Republic would complain, and not patriot heart but would rejoice. We can never do too much for those gallant men who, in the darkest midnight of the Rebellion, stood guard over all our homes here in the North, and while pacing their solitary sentry rounds on the Shenandoah, the Cumberland, the Rappahannock and the James, did not stop to ask the Pension Bureau how many dollars per month would be paid them, if they had an arm or a leg shattered and blown away by the enemy's shot or shell.

"It was a pity, so it was. That villainous saltpetre should be dragged Out of the bowels of the harmless earth, Which many a good, brave fellow has destroyed."

And yet it would be a thousand pities more if the ingratitude of our people was such as to begrudge the poor, crippled soldiers a reasonable pension for the great sacrifices they endured for this

"Land of the free, And home of the brave."

WEALTH OF PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.

The Washington correspondence of the Boston Herald says: The next President, if he be chosen from among the candidates now prominent, is not likely to be a poor man. On the Republican side, Blaine is the richest. Bristow and his wife are worth a quarter of a million. Hayes is still better off. Conkling is believed to possess over $100,000; while Morton and Wheeler have smaller fortunes. Tilden, on the Democratic side, is the wealthiest, he being put down for four or five millions. Davis owns more than one million, and Thurman has a large fortune. Bayard is well to do, while Hancock is in comfortable circumstances.

AGRICULTURE ABOUT RENO.

We publish elsewhere the substance of a communication published in the San Francisco Rural Press of yesterday. The correspondence is a brief yet truthful statement of the progress of this town and vicinity during the past five years. Agriculture is our leading industry, and "alfalfa" the bonanza of Washoe county. In a year or two we shall be raising a crop that will make our agricultural industry prosperous to such an extent as will vitalize and stimulate all other industries. The future greatness of Reno is assured from the source of wealth furnished by agriculture.

The Austin Reveille of April 27th, in wrestling with the dog nuisance, gives utterance to the following: The worst nuisances are the little dogs; they are not much on the fight themselves, but are remarkably successful in starting and urging on fights. Two little fies will commence by snarling at each other, and in less than a minute a cat can wink its tail the surface of the whole width of Main street for the length of a block will be covered with a sea of surging, snapping, growling dogs, and out of the chaos it is possible that there may come one fully developed, square-jawed and down dog-fight, and then the little dogs take seats in the dress-circle and watch the fun.

AGRICULTURE ABOUT RENO.

Agricultural Value—Tree Growing—A Nevada Crop—Stock Raising.

The growing town of Reno is the center of one of the most interesting and important portions of the State. The Truckee valley in which it is situated, is at this point a wide plain, and the old, well-known Truckee Meadows are on the other side of the river, where, in ante-railroad times, the overland emigrant stopped to recruit his cattle for the weary ascent of the mountains. The old pioneer who passes along this Summer, on his way to the Centennial, will hardly recognize the spot which furnished him such refreshing rest in years past. A flourishing town, not dreamed of then, will appear, laid out evenly with wide, rectangular streets, having substantial stores and public buildings and handsome residences; and showing a decided tendency to ambition in the various projected improvements. Being the county seat the court house is here, and is a large well arranged brick structure, in that portion of the town built on the south side of the Truckee river, and which is reached by a substantial bridge. A little northeast, and in full view of the town, is the site of the State prison, now being built. Here also will be located the female seminary, which is under the control of Bishop Whitaker, of this diocese. The site for this building has been donated by the R. B. Co. Being the outlet for a large northern and north-western territory, Reno has some importance as a shipping point and depot of supplies for many large cattle ranches, some of which are 200 miles distant. About 2,000 men are employed in the hills, from 7 to 15 miles off, in getting wood and timber for the mines at Virginia and vicinity and in attending to the flume in which it is conveyed. The immense water power furnished by the Truckee river hereby provides facilities for manufacturing which are sure to be availed of as the need for such enterprises is developed. But that which assures the permanent prosperity of the town is the

AGRICULTURAL VALUE

Of the surrounding country. This was not appreciated by the first settlers, who passed by with contempt the sagebrush plain, which presented only the idea of continued sterility, and sought the meadow land which produced the native grasses. This being all settled, the next to arrive were compelled to go out on the plain, and it was soon ascertained that with irrigation these lands yielded most liberal crops, and was in every way superior to the meadows. In the whole basin there are from 80,000 to 100,000 acres which can and will be irrigated, a large portion of which is within the reach of the ditches already in operation, and from 15,000 to 20,000 are now in cultivation, and the cultivated acreage is being largely added to each year. The singular spectacle is everywhere seen of an unreclaimed sagebrush waste divided only by a fence from a flourishing field of alfalfa, which seems to be almost as much at home as in the rich valleys of California. Water alone was needed to make this apparent desert a fertile plain, rivaling in richness the silver bearing rocks by which it is surrounded. Ditches are already in position to supply large portions of the valley, and new ones are being constructed and projected to provide irrigation for the whole tract. Of course, under these developments land near town has rapidly advanced in price, and changes hands at from $50 to $100 per acre, and at these prices is considered a profitable investment, when the first season's cropping will almost pay for the land and all the cost of preparing it. A few miles away there is yet much which can be bought for from $5 to $15 per acre, which will be, when cleared, of equal value to that now under cultivation. The grains, alfalfa, potatoes, all kinds of vegetables, and both large and small fruit are profitably grown. The proximity of the mining camps and towns affords an excellent market, and two railroads and numerous good country roads give unusual facilities for reaching it.

TREE GROWING.

Both fruit and forest trees grow rapidly, and it will be but a few years before the bare look which their absence gives the landscape will be removed by the growth of the orchards and ornamental trees which have been planted. But much more remains to be done in this line, and the writer suggests to your numerous readers in this valley, that they should plant a greater variety of shade and ornamental trees. Hitherto so many of one kind have been planted that the general effect must be monotonous. The presence of another nursery will give increased opportunities of selecting what suits the tastes or needs of each. This is one afforded by the enterprise of Mr. Chapin, who is now planting a nursery on the Steamboat Springs road, just out of town. On the opposite side of the town, Mr. Stephen Connor has had a small nursery for some years past.

A NEVADA CROP.

Having said above that the first crop will sometimes pay for the land and all the cost of preparing it for cultivation, maybe it will better to give actual results in figures, as obtained from a practical and successful man, Mr. A. J. Hatch. Mr. H. has one field in alfalfa, of which he gives the following data:

12 acres, $25 per acre.....	$300
Clearing, $25.....	300
Harvesting and Seeding, $15 per acre. 180
Irrigating 12 acres, harvesting and feeding 56 tons alfalfa, $7 per ton. 392	$1,172
56 tons alfalfa, $20 per ton.....	1,120
	$ 52

On this piece of land the cost of clearing off the stone was equal to first cost of land, and yet the first season's crop came within $52 of making the whole transaction clear profit. On much of the land the cost of clearing will not exceed $5 per acre, while on some it would be greater than the estimate above given.

STOCK RAISING.

The grass on the mountain sides, at some seasons, and in the deep cañons all the year, affords pasturage and shelter for thousands of sheep, which is one of the most profitable stock interests of the country. Large flocks are owned and pastured on the adjacent public lands. At this date shearing is going on, (which is done here but once a year,) and the depot platforms are filled with bags of wool, waiting for shipment. About 100,000 pounds will be shipped from here this year. The cattle ranches are, for the most part, farther off, but large herds are owned by settlers in this valley, and the interest is constantly increasing. Since it is ascertained that alfalfa is so well adapted to this soil, and the cattle fatten on it so rapidly, and that so fine a quality of beef is produced, a large business will soon spring up in winter feeding, and thus much facilitate the wintering of stock. When a large portion of this productive valley is yielding its liberal crops of alfalfa, many more cattle may be kept in the hills during the Summer, having the certainty of a bountiful winter provision here.

Strange Revelations by the Microscope

There is a story that an eminent microscopist had a bit of substance submitted to him to decide what it was. To an unaided eye it might be a morsel of skin which a baggage smasher had knocked off the corner of a smoothly worn hair trunk. The savant appealed to his microscope. Entirely ignorant of this tiny bit of matter, except as he had taken counsel with his instrument, the wise man declared that it was the skin of a human being, and that, judging by the fair hair on it, it was the so called naked portion of the body, and, further, that it once belonged to a fair complexioned person. The strange facts now made known to the man of science were these: That, a thousand years before, a Danish marauder had robbed an English church. In the spirit of the old-fashioned piety the robber was flayed (let us hope that he was killed first), and then the skin was nailed to the church door. Except as tradition or archaeological lore had it, the affair had been forgotten for hundreds of years. Time, the great erodent, had long ago removed the offensive thing. Still, however, the church door held to its marks of the great shame, for the broad-headed nails remained. Somebody extracted one, and underneath its flint head was the atomic remnant of that ancient Scandinavian malefactor's pelt, that fair-skinned robber from the North.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.—On May 1st, 1876, one light gray mare shod all round with brand on the left fore shoulder, (O J), or frying pan. Any one finding the same will be suitably rewarded by leaving at Lee's in Reno. W. D. WAGNER.

There is one thing that don't mind pinching and that is snuff.

COMSTOCK MINING NEWS.

The Mining Situation—A Good Yield From the Bonanza Mines—New Developments, and the Problem to be Solved by the New Machinery—What is Being Done Along the Comstock.

(Enterprise of yesterday.)

There has been but little change in the mining situation during the past week. In the leading mines the ore-breasts never looked better. The yield of the Consolidated Virginia will be somewhat short, owing to an accident to one of their principal mills, yet will reach about $2,500,000, while the California will no doubt run up to $1,500,000, making a total yield of $4,000,000 for the bonanza mines. The Ophir will show an increased yield, and several new mines will come in as ore producing.

The developments along the lead promise well, and it is thought that a good body of ore will shortly be opened in the Mexican. The prospects in the new sections of the Ophir are excellent and the news from the Imperial, Justice, Jacket and Overman is favorable. The latter mine will soon be producing bullion.

Although stocks have been a good deal depressed our mining men are still of good cheer. The opening of good bodies of ore will soon set all right, and all expect sooner or later to be able to show something more than mere indications.

Once the new and powerful machinery now in process of erection at the north end of the lead goes into operation lively times will be seen here, and such work will be done as has never before been seen in progress at any one time on the Comstock. When the Savage, Hale and Norcross, Gould and Curry and Combination shaft machinery is started up a problem will be solved which is of great interest to our mining men. It will then be seen whether or not a number of sets of powerful pumping machinery working in concert will be able to handle the water encountered at great depths. As the old machinery held the water in check it is safe to say that that now being set up will very speedily remove it; also, will be able to handle any quantity that is likely to be encountered in sinking.

Throughout the silver belt the greatest activity prevails, and much good and properly directed prospecting is now being done. Most of our prospecting companies are provided with first-class machinery, and will be able to sink upon and crosscut their veins at such a depth as will disclose something of their value, even though paying ore should not be actually reached.

Religious Services.
DIVINE services will be held in the M. E. Church to-day, at 11 A. M. and at 7 P. M., also Sabbath school at 2 P. M. Rev. G. W. Fitch, Pastor.

At the Episcopal Church there will be divine service at 11 A. M. and 7 1/2 P. M. to-day Rev. Mr. Lucas officiating. Sunday school immediately after morning service. All are cordially invited to attend.

DEDICATORY Services will be held at the new Baptist Church on Second street to-day at 11 A. M., and 7:30 P. M. Dedictory sermon by Rev. C. A. Bateman, General Missionary for this coast. Evening sermon by Rev. G. W. Ford, of Napa City. An invitation is cordially extended to all.

THERE will be no services in the Congregational Church to-day. Sunday School as usual.

THERE will be no services in the Catholic Church until further notice.

THAT POLE.—Foreman McFarlin last evening informed us what use was proposed to be made of the liberty pole of the engine company when put in place. When the members are wanted to attend a meeting a blue flag with the letter "M" in the center, will be run up, and when a flag with "W" in the center appears, that means "Wash." Every member who fails to see the flag, and misses the warning, will be compelled to pay the usual fine of fifty cents.

IN TOWN.—W. S. Wood, Esq., of Virginia City, was in town yesterday, and expressed himself astonished at Reno's rapid growth, and wonderful improvement. Mr. Wood is favorably mentioned as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress this fall.

AT WORK.—Work is being pushed on the Nevada State mine, Peavine. The shaft is now down thirty feet, the bottom in ledge matter of a very favorable character. A valuable mine will soon be developed on this claim.

ALL the patients in the County Hospital, and the prisoners in the County Jail, are doing as well as could be expected.

UP NORTH.

We hear that considerable apprehension is felt in Modoc county, Cal., especially in the neighborhood of Surprise Valley, lest the deep snows upon the surrounding mountains should suddenly melt under the warm sun and occasion a disastrous flood which would in all probabilities ruin the entire grain and garden crops, thereby reducing the majority of the people to almost beggars. By the majority we mean the farming class, who depend altogether on their grain, hay, garden-stuffs, etc., for a living through the hard Winters, which are exceedingly severe in that section of country, and when during the largest part of the Winter, teaming is impossible. If such a flood should occur at this time it would undoubtedly injure this town in some respects, as Reno is the nearest market for the produce of that country, and the trade would be a stand-still for a year or more. For the last eight years the people of Surprise Valley and the section of country surrounding have been struggling to gain a livelihood in many ways, such as ranching, lumbering and stock-raising, but like a fly in molasses, the fates seem to be against them. Reno is the nearest shipping point, as we said before, and even it is too far off, for they have tried to ship produce to Reno, but find it does not pay at all, though teamsters who travel between the two points sometimes load with grain, which, even when grain is selling at good figures, only pay the expense of the trip. For the last two years they have been building their hopes on the probability of a railroad being constructed through that country from Winnemucca direct to Portland, Oregon, which would enhance the prospects of the whole section north of Reno. But they were disappointed for in some enigmatical manner (to them at least) it was never built, nor is it possible that it will be. As to the character of the climate and soil, there is no doubt but what everything in the fruit or grain line can be raised there in abundance and also of the best quality. It has been tried by several parties with gratifying success, and at the present time there are orchards in which almost all the different kinds of fruit are raised, situated at different points in Surprise Valley. But the fruit is raised only for family use. Cherries are among the most thriving and abundant fruit, while peaches, apricots and crab-apples do exceedingly well. Blackberries especially thrive as well, if not better, than they do in the lower counties. And now, with all these different advantages before them and no market within 200 miles, is it any wonder that the farming class of that section are discouraged? We are speaking more strictly of Surprise Valley, for to the westward of the valley it is mostly devoid of the above good qualities, with the exception of Goose Lake Valley. During the last year and a half there has been mines discovered to the west of Surprise about 100 miles, which has helped in a small degree to enliven the prospects; but they have proved almost a failure, and therefore not much faith is placed in them, although they may yet prove all that was predicted. Stock raising is of more value than any other occupation, while lumbering is only of local importance, but if a railroad should ever be constructed anywhere near the range of mountains on the western side of the valley, lumbering would be the most important item. This last Winter has been an unusually hard one and has left things in that section in a deplorable condition, but we hope they may see better and more prosperous times before a great while.

THE Austin Reveille, Carson Appeal and our evening cotemporary are in a muddle as to how Tom Williams came to be Nevada's orator at the Centennial. We beg leave to unravel the mystery. He was appointed by Governor Bradley about six months ago.

ANOTHER BRICK.—Burke yesterday let the contract for a brick 24x36, to be built adjoining his present building. The corners around Virginia and Second streets are beginning to take a front seat.

BOARD OF TRADE.—The Reno Board of Trade hold a meeting to-morrow evening. All members are requested to be present.

FRUIT CROP.—Mr. J. C. Lewis informs us that his yield of fruit will be immense this season. The frosts have not done any damage. His peach trees are loaded, and promise fine results. His strawberry crop will be double that of last year. His last year's strawberries were the most luscious of any sold in town. Of other small fruits he will have an abundance, which indicates that he has given much thought and attention to the cultivation of his garden on the south side of the river.

TRAVEL LIGHT.—Conductor Jerome Clark, of the lightning express, informs us that travel is light. They are running two coaches and a sleeper, when the travel only calls for one coach and a sleeping car. He thinks, however, that way travel will pick up next month, as the folks on the other side of the Sierra have hardly yet got accustomed to the new arrangement.

BURNETT.—Remember to go and see and hear America's greatest humorist at the Opera House to-morrow evening. He is a host in himself, but on this occasion is assisted by the versatile and poetic reader, Miss Helen Nash. Every Mason ought to hear her read that beautiful Masonic poem "The Level and the Square." We know of no better way to pass an evening than to attend this show.

By far the neatest church in town is the Baptist Church to be dedicated to-day. The seats are nicely grained and the sises carpeted, while the pulpit is the essence of neatness. Rev. Mr. Fisher deserves more than a passing notice for his work in this matter. Step around and see how nicely it looks.

REPRESENTATIVES.—Reno Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., has elected the following Past Grands as Representatives to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows to convene in this city next month: J. S. Shoemaker, D. C. Martin, Will T. Frank, A. C. McFarlin, P. B. Comstock, Donald McKay.

LOOKING WELL.—We interviewed Mr. A. Banta yesterday about how crops look in his end of the valley. He tells us that the volunteer grasses are doing splendidly, while everything else is doing very well indeed. The prospects are good for a heavy crop this year.

COIN to the amount of $100,000 has been shipped East since Thursday night, and 80 bars of bullion West in the same time. The coin was mostly twenty-five cent pieces.

THE reason why there is no services in the Congregational Church to-day is because the pastor has gone to give the Wadsworth people a sermon or two.

PERSONAL.—Col. James Fair and Supt. H. M. Yerington were passengers on the lightning express arriving here from San Francisco yesterday morning. They were on their way home.

OUR markets are well supplied with vegetables and fruits from the California side.

NEW potatoes have made their appearance in our markets. Mighty nice.

E. HENO can get a telegram by calling at the Western Union office.

CARPETS, OILCLOTHS, MATTING, ETC., ETC.—Ladies who are in want of those goods (or anything appertaining to household goods) would do well to postpone buying for a few days and save money by calling on Grey & Isaacs, as they will open the largest stock of carpets, oilcloths, matting, rugs, mats, windowblinds, etc., etc., by the end of the week, ever exhibited in this State, at astonishing low prices.

THE Palace store was besieged by the ladies yesterday. All the goods shown were of the latest style and patterns, and Barnett Bros. sell as low as the lowest. Their new store makes a very tempting display, and no wonder they call it the "Palace" of fashion.

BUTTER makers will find at the store of Beck & Co., a new style of butter tub. Go and see them, buy them, then fill them with nice ranch butter, when they will buy your butter and allow you first cost of the tub.

THE Palace Store is now open and all the goods in sight. Ladies can get any article they call for. Barnett & Bro. want everybody to call.
